

THE BRITISH ASSOCIATION FOR CONTEMPORARY LITERARY STUDIES

BACLS NEWSLETTER 21/04/2020

BACLS is currently looking at how to support members during the COVID-19 outbreak. If you have any ideas, we'd really like to hear from you.

The BACLS mailing is currently intermittent due to the postponement of most public events. BACLS advises members to double check listed event details (especially talks, conferences, CFPs) with the host institution.

Jobs:

- Lecturer in English Literature, Northumbria University, deadline 10th May

Conferences:

- During May, the British Association for Irish Studies will facilitate an online month-long Irish Studies 'Conference' on Twitter

Publications:

- An interview with BACLS secretary, Rose Harris-Birtell, about the Open Library of Humanities
- Ben Davies (ed.), John Burnside: Contemporary Critical Perspectives, Bloomsbury
- Martin Paul Eve, 'Textual Scholarship and Contemporary Literary Studies: Jennifer Egan's Editorial Processes and the Archival Edition of Emerald City', LIT: Literature, Interpretation, Theory; 'Equivocational Horseshit: Post-Correlationist Aesthetics and Post-Critical Ethics in the Works of David Foster Wallace', Open Library of Humanities
- Martin Paul Eve, Paula Clemente Vega, and Caroline Edwards, 'Lessons From the Open Library of Humanities', LIBER Quarterly
- Anna Severin, Matthias Egger, Martin Paul Eve, and Daniel Hürlimann, 'Discipline-Specific Open Access Publishing Practices and Barriers to Change: An Evidence-Based Review \(Version 2\)', F1000Research

CFP:

- An Overflow of Meaning: Reading and Re-Reading Hilary Mantel, The Huntington Library, San Marino, deadline 31st July
- Special Issue of Philosophies - 'Contemporary British Culture and Neoliberalism.' deadline for manuscript submissions 1 August 2020

Please keep sending items for the next newsletter to r.sykes@bham.ac.uk. Although newsletters may be intermittent, keeps an eye on our Twitter and Facebook for more regular updates.

Best wishes,

Rachel